Online Diploma in Holistic Health Practice Online

Our interactive, educational performances create friendly environments where children, families and communities can learn, ask hard questions, and share their struggles with each other. The assessment taken and the information provided from the sessions can be utilized to maintain a high quality of life without significant health complications. In particular, we are dedicated to improving the conditions in which people live right here in the Philadelphia region.

School health education

These experiences contribute to their professional development and expand their knowledge of the health care world through the perspective of an FQHC. Global Field Practice Experience A Global Field Practice Experience offers MPH students the opportunity to apply theory and principles of professional practice in global health and international development, that can potentially culminate in a Integrated Learning Experience project proposal. The Dental Hygiene Authorization Plan must be closed before SHARRS can be opened in order for the system to process reports correctly.

The Office of Public Health Practice & Training

Each year the Office of Public Health Practice sponsors the This is Public Health PHoto Contest. Keep your eyes open the rest of 2020 for that winning snapshot! Basic School Health Services: These services are mandated by Florida Statute section 381. These projects often involve various departments, and students have the opportunity to experience our organization on multiple levels.

School Health Program

School nurses may carry additional licensure as a CRNP. Entries will be accepted again in March of 2021.

Appropriate Practices in School

The Center for Public Health Practice CPHP is part of the Drexel University Dornsife School of Public Health. This includes development of individualized healthcare plans, and training, delegation and monitoring of care provided by licensed practical nurses, health aides and school staff.

Overview of Public Health Practice

DHSP Authorization The Authorization Plan will now be submitted electronically via SHARRS. The goal of the Center is to translate knowledge into practice by creating a bridge between academia and the public health workforce.
