

Labor conflict and racial violence - the black worker in Chicago, 1894-1919

Bobbs-Merrill - Labor conflict and racial violence: The black worker in Chicago, 1894

Description: -

-Labor conflict and racial violence - the black worker in Chicago, 1894-1919

-

CIHM/ICMH microfiche series -- no. 07667

Bobbs-Merrill reprint series in Black studies -- BC-302 Labor conflict and racial violence - the black worker in Chicago, 1894-1919

Notes: Reprinted from Labor History, Vol. 10, Summer, 1969.

This edition was published in 1975

Filesize: 41.67 MB

Tags: #The #Workers #That #Built #America

The East St. Louis Race Riot Left Dozens Dead, Devastating a Community on the Rise

Thirty NARA record groups approximately 19,711 cubic feet of documentary material document the activities of federal agencies whose core missions pertained to labor and labor management relations. Julius Jacobson 1968 , pp. In 1909 white employees of the Georgia Railroad, represented by the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, walked off their jobs, demanding that lower-paid black firemen be replaced by higher-paid whites.

Elaine, Arkansas Riot (1919)

Most of the casualties and property damage were suffered by black Chicagoans. One pulled a gun and fired at the police.

African Americans and the American Labor Movement

Jessie Carney Smith and Carrell Peterson Horton, eds. A reasonable estimate of the total number of extant Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service files pertaining to African American labor is nine thousand to eighteen thousand.

Illinois coal wars

The Irish had long patrolled their neighborhood boundaries against all other ethnic groups, especially African Americans. They expected to be treated as full citizens after fighting for the nation.

Related Books

- Supersticiones y agüeros colombianos
- Bóthar chun na Róimhe
- Coachella Valley sand dune ecosystem facts
- Geology of Scotland
- Marguerite Pattens book of cakes and baking