Israel deliberately forgets its history , by Schlomo Sand (Le Monde diplomatique

Defeats at the hands of the Franks, Byzantines, Afghans, Khazars, Indians, and Chinese brought to a halt their expansions in the 700's, while their Empire split apart in ethnic revolts and the Arabs themselves fought three civil wars before their first century of dominance was over. The Kutama were masterful horsemen.

Historiography of early Islam

The date of composition of some of the early non-Islamic sources is controversial.

Early Muslim conquests

Umar II ordered governors to cease collection of taxes from Muslim converts, but his successors obstructed this policy and some governors sought to stem the tide of conversions by introducing additional requirements such as circumcision and the ability to recite passages from the Quran. This story then became the basis for later colonial arguments by French administrators particularly for a separation in the recognition legal and cultural systems between Berber and Arab in North Africa. Fortunately, there are maps to connect the place names for the reader.
