Finding a new home for Jeff's machines and tools

Please, bare with me: being away during the week, there's awful a lot to take during the weekends and the grass is growing like crazy. Some are completely functional, other are projects at various stages of completion.

Finding a new home for Jeff's machines and tools

I appreciate all the help that was generously given to load the lathe and tooling that went with it. His desire was for his tools and machines to be restored and used. The tools in this collection are pretty neat.
