Convention on International Civil Aviation

One of them was later seen walking down a road and was shot dead. After months of clandestine life and a surge in new recruits after the D day landings on the 6th June, the Résistance desperately needed funds for arms, food and shelter to continue the fight against the Germans.

My husband and I enjoy history.

Crues: vigilance rouge levée en Corrèze, «situation stabilisée» à Argentat

It seems that the jury is still out on the Resistance as to whether they were truly heroes or simply renegades who would jeopardise the live of innocent villagers, as in Oradour sur Glane, for their own dubious gain The First World War is marked only by grim cenotaphs in virtually every village where an entire generation of men were virtually wiped out by the madness of trench warfare in Northern It all sounds a bit morbid but it has a compulsive fascination as for most of us it all happened in our fathers lifetime.

L'occupation allemande en Périgord : photographies et documents : 1939

In the oldest sense of the word, it is a long river, a tributary of the Gironde, that rises in the Massif du Sancy in the and meets the Gironde near Bordeaux. The flag of the Dordogne was chosen at the time of the French Revolution when the department was created on 4 March 1790. The capital of the Lot is the beautiful small city of Cahors, famous for its medieval streets and its unique surviving 14th century bridge, the Pont de Valentré.

La Resistance Francaise: Monument aux fusillés du 11 juin 1944 à Mussidan en Dordogne

Virtually the whole area is attractive hill country, full of old villages, castles, small country towns and plenty of scope for relaxing and enjoyable holidays.
