s.n - Defining Foreign Policy

Summary

- » Five years into implementation of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, progress had been uneven and acceleration was needed in many areas. The world was not on track to deliver the SDGs by 2030.
- » COVID-19 is having a devastating impact on all 17 Goals and threatening the achievements already made in many areas. While the virus has impacted everyone, it is the poorest and most vulnerable who are affected disproportionately by the pandemic.
- » Investment in data is urgently needed to respond to the crisis and support SDG acceleration.
- » To recover from the COVID-19 pandemic, we must put people at the centre of the response to achieve more equitable and resilient outcomes for all. The SDGs and the Paris Agreement are our compass to a transformative recovery that reduces the risk of future crises and brings the inclusive and sustainable development.

Trade Policies in Developing Countries

In particular, an IMF-World Bank debt initiative under consideration recognizes the need to bring the levels of LLDC debt to a point of sustainability. Technological capacities in many industries in LLDCs are rudimentary, which together with the low levels of educational attainment of the workforce, is a major impediment to raising productivity.

The framework comprises three key ideas: i Sound policies should connect foreign and domestic investment, not favor one over the other; ii FDI comes in many forms with varying effects on socio-economic development requiring tailored policies based on a typology of FDI; and iii investments are more than just transactions; they entail relationships between multiple stakeholders throughout the varying stages of the investment lifecycle. Commitments in their goods and services schedules also help lock-in reforms in the trade regime, thereby adding to the credibility of the reforms in the eyes of foreign and domestic investors. Although the general idea of a ladder of opportunity for all citizens continues to exert a powerful attraction, specifics are often quite controversial.

Foreign and security policy

As a result, the shares of Africa and the Middle East in world merchandise trade are now below that of China.
