Rights of Recipients of Mental Health

Services

The recipient's designated regular callers, so requesting, shall be immediately notified, if possible, when the restrictions on communication by telephone are lifted. Upon the recommendation of a physician, licensed psychologist or, in residential settings, licensed clinical social worker, licensed clinical professional counselor or MOW nurse specialist the chief administrator of the facility may restrict or monitor a recipient's right to communicate by telephone, if it is determined that the recipient has made obscene or threatening phone calls, or for other security reasons in the case of forensic recipients. Exceptions: 1 Agencies and service providers subjected to these regulations may pay sub-minimum wage to a recipient who performs work after proper certification has been made by the United States Department of Labor under Handicapped Worker provisions contained in federal law.

Rights of Recipients of Mental Health Services

The period, not to exceed 72 hours, during which the emergency treatment may be administered; c. The guardian, custodian or legally responsible parent shall be fully and actively involved in treatment or service planning to the maximum extent possible, given time and location constraints. Information regarding such danger of harm shall be immediately given to supervisory personnel or appropriate professionals, civil authorities, and any specific person threatened by direct harm.

Office of Recipient Rights

Grievance Forms are to be readily available from providers and from the Department's regional offices and are to be provided as soon as practicable upon request. Aid may include one or more of the following activities: assistance in the formulation and processing of a grievance, participation in the informal or formal development and revision of, an ISP or hospital treatment and discharge plan, or any other type of representative assistance activity referenced in these rules. Recipients in restraint shall have each extremity examined and the restraint loosened, sequentially, no less frequently than every 15 minutes.

Recipient Rights Training

The anticipated duration of the treatment; e. .

Rights of Recipients of Mental Health Services

All basic rights shall remain intact unless specifically limited through legal proceedings, as in the case of guardianship or in an emergency or when necessary to protect the rights or safety of the recipient or others, only as outlined in specific sections of these rules. ASSISTANCE IN THE PROTECTION OF RIGHTS A. Any suspension or termination of approval shall include a statement of the reasons for the Board's action and shall be reported promptly to the investigator, appropriate institutional officials, and the secretary of the Department of Health and Human Services as required by federal regulations.

Recipient Rights Training

The team shall include the recipient except as otherwise provided in these rules. Aggrieved parties must file a Grievance Form with the Grievance Coordinator, whose name and address will be provided on the Grievance Form.
