Liberalisation

In the Memorandum of Economic Policies dated August 27, 1991 to the IMF, the Finance Minister submitted in the concluding paragraph: The Government of India believes that the policies set forth in the Memorandum are adequate to achieve the objectives of the program, but will take any additional measures appropriate for this purpose. It discouraged public sector monopoly and paved the way for competition in the market.

About 25 years later, it stands at Rs 1,35,76,086 crore, up 2216 percent.

Impact of globalization on Indian economy

First published in 1949 as the Economic Weekly and since 1966 as the Economic and Political Weekly, EPW, as the journal is popularly known, occupies a special place in the intellectual history of independent India. Manmohan Singh, the former finance minister, opened the way for a free economy in the country which led to the significant development of the country.

In a way does it symbolize the low importance deliberately given to the growth of the agriculture sector in the scheme of globalization? India has vast natural resources with high-efficiency labor, but after all this, it was still contributing with 0. Social and human development remains absurdly low leading to a profoundly fragmented nation. Most important, the Eighth Five Year Plan marked the beginning of privatization and liberalization of the economy in the country.

It plays a vital role not only in providing food and nutrition to the people, but also in the supply of raw material to industries and to export trade. They no longer require prior government approval and are free to expand themselves.

Liberalization

This period of economic transition has had a tremendous impact on the overall economic development of almost all major sectors of the economy, and its effects over the last decade can hardly be overlooked.
