This paper draws on a review of the conservation resource in seven counties of eastern England and a survey of landholders in a 2000 km<sup>2</sup> study area in Norfolk and Suffolk to examine the factors affecting the management of the conservation resource in the wider countryside. In contrast, our study aims to examine the impact of different types of interventions upon a wide range of possible outcomes and causal pathways. In some cases these areas are actually as sensitive to such developments as those within special landscape areas.

Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981

National Scenic Areas Introduced by the Countryside Commission for Scotland in 1980, the NSA designation replaces two earlier categories of importance for scenic interest in Scotland: National Park Direction Areas and a variety of regional landscape designations such as Area of Great Landscape Value AGLV and Areas of Scenic Value ASV.

Nature conservation

UN: The Millennium Development Goals Report. Background International policy has sought to emphasize and strengthen the link between the conservation of natural ecosystems and human development.

Exploring Conservation

However, when video evidence emerged proving that the beavers had given birth to kits young in 2014, the UK Government initially planned to have them removed from the river. We run a range of different projects and initiatives. Similarly Countryside Stewardship and Tir Cymen integrate land management and conservation.
