THE SOFT PORCELAIN OF SEVRES. WITH AN HISTORICAL INTRODUCTION BY EDOUARD GARNIER. ROYAL FOLIO, TEN PARTS, FIVE PLATES IN EACH, FIFTY IN ALL, REPRESENTING TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY WATER

In 1789, the Bastille was attacked and riots broke out in France starting the French Revolution. The fritted body was never produced by American potters, for the reason that when porcelain was first made in this country, at the commencement of the nineteenth century, the manufacture of artificial soft paste had long been abandoned in Europe.

Ceramics and Glass

A few tissue guards and versos of plates spotted, small scratch in outer front margin of third plate, plates and contents generally very clean.
