Driven by Covid, record numbers apply to medical schools

These policies are pretty strict, and rather than viewing your letter as the exception, the committee might perceive it in a negative light. Med School Acceptance Rates In 2018—2019, 21,622 applicants were accepted to allopathic MD medical schools out of the 52,777 who applied, for an overall acceptance rate of 41%. Did you crank out a draft overnight and send it in, or did you conduct brainstorming and outlining, composing multiple drafts and re-writes, , reviewing for impeccable grammar and flow, crafting a shining gem of a document over days — if not weeks — of composition, review, and revision for each and every essay? Most medical schools get state funding, and governments typically want their money to go to American students who are more likely to stick around and deal with the doctor shortage.
