

Reminiscences of the royal burgh of Haddington and old East Lothian agriculturists

J. Menzies - Reminiscences of the Royal Burgh of Haddington

Description: -

-

Religion and science.

Evolution.

East Lothian (Scotland) -- History
Reminiscences of the royal burgh of Haddington and old East Lothian agriculturists

-Reminiscences of the royal burgh of Haddington and old East Lothian agriculturists

Notes: Originally published in the Haddingtonshire courier, and later in the Haddingtonshire advertiser.

This edition was published in 1883

Filesize: 67.68 MB

Tags: #Reminiscences #of #the #Royal #Burgh #of #Haddington #and #Old #East #Lothian #Agriculturists: #Martine, #John: #Amazon.sg: #Books

Reminiscences of the Royal Burgh of Haddington and Old East Lothian ...

Subsequently to his ordination, Mr Brown waited on the solitary dissentient, who was menacing to leave the meeting-house. At the time of his premature death in 1835, he was busy with a new enlarged edition of his grandfather's Bible, which was continued and finished by his brother, the Rev. Mr Kellie has rebuilt the house of the Roundel, and added it to his extensive drapery establishment.

Reminiscences of the Royal Burgh of Haddington

He was a very heavy, fat man, weighing upwards of twenty stones. It is related of Mr James Pringle that he bought a couple of cocks the Friday before Pastern's E'en for over fifty years.

Reminiscences of the Royal Burgh of Haddington and Old East Lothian Agriculturists by John Martine (2011, Trade Paperback) for sale online

ANY anecdotes, traditionally handed down, and stories of persons and events which have happened in and around Haddington in former times, might be written, and be interesting in these days. His forbears were tenants in the farm of West Fenton from 1650 to 1745, and afterwards at Stevenson Mains. On the 4th October 177 s, the Tyne rose seventeen feet, and laid the town under water.

Reminiscences Royal Burgh of Haddington: And Old East Lothian Agriculturists (Classic Reprint): Martine, John: spaceneb.us.to.au: Books

Born at Wooler in 1789, but brought up in Haddington, and educated at the grammar school, he entered the army 32 REMINISCENCES OF OLD HADDINGTON. It was taken down about a hundred and twenty years ago.

Related Books

- Xu Fanting wen ji
- Sedimentology in Israel, Cyprus and Turkey - guidebook.
- Of time-- and the prairie - 100 years of people and wildlife in North Dakota : observations in chan
- Meitei society - a study on traditional life circle ceremonies
- Bukkyō denrai to kodai Nihon