In the Old Testament, there is no divine Son. It is a duty as well as a virtue; nor is there any obligation in ethics which is more closely bound up with human responsibility 1.

Harold Gardiner

Men thus trusted—under authority to that Holy Ghost yet having their own souls under them—are in the highest and purest sense a law unto themselves. It is to define what we have in common, not by what we have, but by what we are missing. This consecration is unto universal Submission, which is active and passive.

Reflections and Musings

If you were sitting nearby, I could show you Pg. Revisiting the educational ideas of anarchist theorists and practitioners forces us to step back and ask these questions; to remind ourselves that there were times where not just the link between the state and education, but the state itself, was contested.

In the Caves of Heaven and Hell: Swedenborg and Printmaking in Blake's Marriage

The present employment of Scripture in theological discourse is analyzed by David Kelsey, The Uses of Scripture in Recent Theology Philadelphia: Fortress Press, 1975. Even today all those in heaven and in purgatory are its members. However, they are not divinely revealed and they, too, along with all other confessions, creeds, and statements of faith, must be subject to the correction of the biblical Word.
