South Korea's Economic Development, 1948

Reforms have failed mainly because they have not been thorough enough in breaking the power of the landed elite, and in extending the role of the government in an inclusive development process. A bill designed to strip absentee landowners of their holdings was introduced in SKILA in mid-December. In the 19th century, tribes owned about 138 million acres 560,000 km<sup>2</sup> of land in the USA.
