printed reports, on CD-ROM, and on the Internet. The data from the CFS are used by public policy analysts and for transportation planning and decision-making to assess the demand for transportation facilities and services, energy use, and safety risk and environmental concerns.

Commodity Flow Survey (CFS) 2002 [dataset]

In summary, the committee found that the CFS plays a unique role in providing data on domestic freight movements to inform a wide range of economic and policy analyses and related investment decisions. Future versions of the CFS would benefit greatly from modifications that update the methodology and make the survey more responsive to the needs of data users. ### C Letter Report on the Commodity Flow Survey

Following the data-gathering sessions, the committee met in closed session to deliberate on its findings and recommendations and begin preparation of this report, which was completed through correspondence among members. Sample Design Investigations of ways to extend the industry and shipment coverage should be conducted in consultation with data users see Recommendation 5. In some instances, relatively minor modifications to the CFS may facilitate the linkage of CFS data with data from other sources e.

Economic Census, Transportation. 2002 Commodity Flow Survey, South Carolina.

Thus, establishments equipped to provide data electronically— through electronic data interchange systems, for example—could provide CFS data by e-mail, diskette, Web data entry, or other electronic media.
