George Grove

A second study, bearing the same title, but covering the years 1972-1987, appeared in 1992, compiled by Larry Uffelman see item 40. Banding was at its peak from the twilight of the 19th century up until the First World War. But what was the mid-century tenor concertina? He likewise excluded the science of music e.

Early in 1899, Grove's health began to fail, and he died, aged 79, on 28 May 1900, in the house at Sydenham in which he had lived for nearly 40 years.

History of Grove Music

By 1976 bands in all sections of the Nationals were allowed to appear with percussion, paving the way for such pieces as Gregson's Connotations and Bourgeois' s Blitz. By 1871 Belle Vue required the name and address of each participant submitted one month early so as to eliminate players participating with more than one band.
