The Columbia Granger's Index to Poetry in Anthologies : Edith Granger : 9780231124485

For over a century, Granger's® has been the definitive source in English for locating a poem in anthologies on library shelves. Then look for the book or journal by title. When on his clasp arm thy head reclineth, When on thy lips his ardent kisses dwell, And the bright flood of burning light that shineth In his dark eyes, is poured into thine; When thou shalt lie enfolded to his heart In all the trusting helplessness of love; If in such joy sorrow can find a part, Oh, give one sigh unto a doom like mine! While the Index has at times been contributed as the brainchild of Granger, in her own words of the preface in 1904, she acknowledges a Mr.

Seduction

Still essential after all these years, on the ready-reference shelf. From our dream grown, on our blood fed, and haunting the purple of our nights, they are the fruits of long concern, they are the fruits of long desire, they were our most secret accomplices and, often verging upon avowal, drew us to their ends out of the abyss of our nights.... Alfred Henry Miles 1848-1929 is probably best known as the editor of The Poets and Poetry of the Nineteenth Century, 13 vols.
