Damroo Hand Percussion Indian Folk Musical Instrument 5 X 4

Using small metal beads inside a double sided frame drum, the ocean drum allows you to create wonderful ocean wave effects as you tilt the drum from one side to the other. The Persian frame drum, known as the Daf, was for many centuries the favoured drum of the Persian court while the zarb was played by peasants. The strong and durable 75 mm webbing can be adjusted to be used with one or two drums.

Wooden Damru (Damroo / Damaru) ordinary Quality

Ghana: It is a solid type of instruments which is beaten by metal sticks in order to produce melodious sounds. The dholak is either played on the player's lap or, while standing, slung from the shoulder or waist or pressed down with one knee while sitting on the floor.

Damroo

We also stock good quality protective carry bags for bodhrans and frame drums — see:. The player holds the damroo in one hand and, by twisting the wrist back and forth, causes the two knotted strings to swing and beat a rhythm on the heads of the drum.

These are then stretched and applied to the two sides, giving the skins their familiar blue or green mottled appearance.

Damroo 2 Headed Talking Drum Hand Percussion

The word mridanga is derived from the two words 'Mrid' clay or earth and 'Ang' body. Have a fun filled trip! They are characterised by a high amount of tension on the drums heads with a correspondingly high pitch relative to body size.
