In the wake of the Report, a series of were set up from 1930 to 1932.

Simon Commission

Before the publication of the report, the British government stated that Indian opinion would henceforth be taken into account, and that the natural outcome of the constitutional process would be status for India.

Annual Report

The noble Viscount has said a good many things not all of them connected with his Question on the Paper, and I am bound to say not all of them helpful. Therefore, the manner of appointment, eligibility, tenure and other protections and privileges of persons manning such Tribunals must be the same as that of the High Court judges.

CHAPTER

I say this because Sir John Simon, no doubt, fully interpreted the ultimate opinion of the Commission. We cannot be responsible for what the Delegates to the Conference are likely to say or what line they are likely to take.

Annual Report

Ranadive, , Madhava Rao, , Raja of Sarila, Tej Bahadur Sapru, Srinivasa Sastri, C. I do not know what else the noble Viscount means and I think that these suggestions which have been made that the Simon Report is going to be ignored, or, on the other hand, that it should be treated as the Tables of Stone, are both very harmful suggestions quite inconsistent with the idea of an entirely Free Conference. The Commission also specified that terms and conditions of service, other allowances and benefits of the Chairman shall be such as are admissible to a Central Government officer holding posts carrying the pay of Rs.
