Science versus Religion Debate

Alfred though was not there. From the extremely curious account which he gives of the weapons, tools, and arts, in use amongst savages in various parts of the world, it cannot be doubted that these have nearly all been independent discoveries, excepting perhaps the art of making fire. Just as in the lower animals, these instincts are acquired by man for the good of the community.

Charles Darwin and the Problem of Creation

Here is another case of what must, I think, be called remorse.

Darwin Awards: History and Rules

This was a description of popular sentiment, not a statement about whether evolution is true or false. If in each grade of society the members were divided into two equal bodies, the one including the intellectually superior and the other the inferior, there can be little doubt that the former would succeed best in all occupations, and rear a greater number of children.

Charles Darwin

Huxley 'Critiques and Addresses,' 1873, p. Natural selection was self-regulating as if it required no divine overseer.

Science versus Religion Debate

The change was so complete that Pope Pius XII asserted in 1950 that both the anthropologist and the theologian should professionally study evolution, even of the body of man and woman.
