Davis Sporting Collection No. 2
Contents List
Sports

The Davis Sporting Collection No. 2 comprises 237 issues of books, accounts, programmes, timetables, scorebooks and other material relating to sports, mostly in Australia. The collection was largely compiled by John Gilbert Davis, editor of the Bellman, Arise and Sunday Times from 1920 to 1930, and by his son Victor C. Davis. It was presented to the State Library of New South Wales by Victor C. Davis in 1975.

The collection contains material published between 1884 and 1974, but most of the material dates from 1920 to 1930. The material is mostly Australian, but there are many items from overseas (especially Great Britain, New Zealand, South Africa and the United States).

There are four contents lists for this collection: Athletics (23 pages), Cricket (22 pages), General Sports and Miscellaneous material of a general sporting or non-sporting nature, 15 pages) and this one, Sports (50 pages).

SPJ Code of Ethics

Hence the necessity of political institutions, the purpose of which is to make available to persons the necessary material, cultural, moral and spiritual goods. The proposed rule did not include any provision restricting audit client officers and directors from owning the accounting firm's securities. This distinction is critical, both for understanding what the ultimate foundation of the value and dignity of work is, and with regard to the difficulties of organizing economic and social systems that respect human rights.

Selected Works of Mao Tse

The reflections and warnings contained in the Encyclical of Pope Leo XIII are placed in this historical context. Finally, we are also cognizant that concerns about the impact of non-audit services on independence have been steadily with us, and growing, during relatively prosperous times, and that any economic downturn may heighten concern over some of these issues.
