A Question of Life: The Warnock Report on Human Fertilisation and Embryology

When a full embryo is donated the recipient woman does not have to have been the donating woman: this means that a child that is not genetically related to either of its parents could be born to the infertile couple.

Human Fertilisation and Embryology (Warnock Report) (Hansard, 23 November 1984)

The world's greatest expert on that disorder, Professor Jerome Lejeune, submitted evidence to the Warnock committee.

QUESTION OF LIFE THE WARNOCK REPORT ON HUMAN FERTILISATION AND EMBRYOLOGY

It is my firm belief that there needs to be a good deal further public debate. The reports reply to the charge of adultery rested on the consent of the husband, which was assumed in the case of a married infertile couple.

Human Fertilisation and Embryology (Warnock Report) (Hansard, 23 November 1984)

Sarah suggested to Abraham that Hagar should give him a son he lacked because Sarah was barren. I do not, therefore, propose to set out in detail the whole range of issues addressed by the Warnock report.

Chapter eleven moves away from treatments and instead concerns issues of scientific research. Member for Castle Point or anyone else say that we should stop research when thousands, perhaps millions of our womenfolk cannot have children? However, for those of us who are not imbued with such inner certainty about those ultimate questions, the benefits of controlled research, closely monitored and regulated by a licensing body of the sort recommended by the Warnock committee, seem to be compelling.

Human Fertilisation and Embryology (Warnock Report) (Hansard, 23 November 1984)

Others would postpone the beginning of life to the first growth of cerebral cells, at about 40 days. Developments in this field are moving too fast for us not to be ready to move with them.

The Report of the Committee of Inquiry into Human Fertilisation and Embryology (1984), by Mary Warnock and the Committee of Inquiry into Human Fertilisation and Embryology

Perhaps that was not surprising. The third list, Section C, concerns service provisions, such as funding through the NHS and organizational restructuring.
