EL 08 05 2002

A Department of Trade and Industry report has shown that people will not buy from a website unless it makes a difference to them clearly that means a financial difference. Convenience is an element that can bring advantage.

SCOTS

Undergraduate courses are regularly inspected by the GMC to ensure that they are meeting those standards. The key is that it is always on, so it is available all the time.

Scottish Parliament

The University of St Andrews offers a degree of BSc in medical sciences at ordinary and honours levels. It has indeed pioneered a number of these activities in the parliament. ANNEX C: OTHER WRITTEN EVIDENCE THE FOLLOWING EVIDENCE WAS ALSO RECEIVED BUT IS NOT PRINTED HERE.

EL 08 05 2002

I will ask Simon Watkins to tell us what is going to happen next.

Scottish Parliament

Professor Norton: In the market, there needs to be more wholesaling of capacity into Scotland.

EL 08 05 2002

In Scotland, that could be achieved simply through purchasing, as David Mundell said, rather than through getting involved in what I believe predictably, as a representative of the Institute of Directors is a fairly doubtful game of subsidy. It was safe to do that, rather than use European funds.

Scottish Parliament

Professor Norton: No, other than to say more power to your collective elbow. If we can get our act together, Europe and the UK have a great potential advantage because of common standards and an acceptance of integration.
