East India Dock Road, North side: Nos 1

The school was thus one of London's very few endowed secondary schools to be 'maintained'.

Trinity Congregational Church, Lansbury, Poplar, London: the nave

One school that is still here is the original Ricardo Street Primary School — now named the Lansbury Lawrence Primary School. Photos of the model of the shopping and market area are shown below. The main structure of the church is of reinforced concrete with London brick covering the exterior of the tower.

Trinity Church Central London

This presaged the disposal of the rest of the land for development after its partition between James Griffiths and the Simonses, the site of Nos 189—205 going to the latter and that of Nos 207—223 to the former see page 175. The original building of the Queen Victoria Seamen's Rest faces Jeremiah Street and was erected in 1901—2 for the Wesleyan Seamen's Mission, which had had premises there since about 1888.

home

The Companion to the Almanac described this 'neat villa-like house' as showing how much expression may be given at a trifling expense to a small and unpretending building of the kind. Dates: 1892-1942 Extent: 2 boxes 0.

Ministries

The text is below: I believe in God the Father Almighty, maker of heaven and earth. Like many estates from the 1960s, Balfour Tower suffered from lack of maintenance, failing lifts, problems with plumping and anti-social behavior.
