Palliative Care Information Act

The amount is not recorded in the transcript. This is not compensable and usually, you get over it pretty quickly. Two-thirds of participants believed that pain relief was sometimes withheld because of these legal concerns.

Killing the Pain Not the Patient: Palliative Care vs Assisted Suicide

The empirical focus of these essays enables the reader to delve into both the history and the theoretical complexities of the pain-death-law relationship. In minor incidents, it is compensation for the inconvenience; in major cases, it is compensation for the agony and suffering.

Project MUSE

This paper considers whether a physician is criminally liable for administering a dose of painkillers that hastens a patient's death. Moreover, the essays show quite clearly how connections between pain, death, and law provide legitimacy to a legal order that puts humans to death. One number represents the most the insurer will pay for one claimant, and the other number represents the maximum the insurer will pay in total, regardless of the number of claimants involved.
