Her hair are raven blacks and gathered in two long braids, has earrings and a necklace made with glass beads. John Wright, in homage to Lenci tradition, brings us a fitting tribute to the legacy of Dare Wright for this, the 50th anniversary year of the publication of The Lonely Doll ®. The first Lenci Balilla doll appeared in the 1929 catalog as a 300 series doll.

After 1924 they discontinued the bendable knee. According to some publications, the Lenci company had manufactured in the '20s, than the early dolls also very rudimentary, figures such as cowboy ethnic, oriental and even among these Native Americans, as we see from the photo catalog of the Firm in 1923 with number 105 , inspired by fashion of the time and from the period lived from Madame Lenci in a international circus Lenci Catalog of 1923 The picture of the old catalog shows an Indian with bow and arrows and a colorful headgear, but the endless stories that he lived justify today the absence of these, and finally a well deserved rest in our living room. During WWII a shortage of doll-making materials brought a halt to production.
