Smithson - Monsanto Roundup & Dicamba Trial Tracker

Product Liability Risk Control Checklist		Appendix C
This material will help you evaluate your products liability exposure. It is designed to enable you to focus on areas that need to be addressed to safeguard your business. The worksheet is divided into six key areas that contribute to the development of a safe product.
Management
<input type="checkbox"/> There is a written policy statement that clearly expresses the company's commitment to producing safe and reliable products.
<input type="checkbox"/> Authority for implementing the program is delegated to top-level management.
<input type="checkbox"/> Product Safety budgets are prepared, and properly funded, as part of normal operating functions.
Culture
<input type="checkbox"/> Specific product safety objectives are established and linked to total quality management.
<input type="checkbox"/> There is a product safety committee involving engineering, production, purchasing, quality control, legal, sales service, etc.
<input type="checkbox"/> There is a company wide awareness and concern regarding product liability and the legal pitfalls to be avoided in the design, manufacture, marketing, distribution, sale, and disposal of a product.
Communication
<input type="checkbox"/> Product safety responsibilities are clearly communicated to each department in the company.
<input type="checkbox"/> All employees/contractors in place for communicating pertinent information to all parties (including sub-contractors, suppliers, vendors, etc.)
<input type="checkbox"/> Training courses and effective methods of communication are in place for all personnel, commensurate with their responsibilities in an integrated product safety program.
Audits
<input type="checkbox"/> Audits are performed periodically to insure that all company functions and external organizations are effectively performing their assigned duties.
<input type="checkbox"/> Product incident reports and product liability claims are reviewed and appropriate corrective action is taken promptly.
<input type="checkbox"/> Corrective operating unit management is directly impacted by accomplishment of product safety objectives.
Documentation
<input type="checkbox"/> Product safety program and product recall procedures are written, current, and available to all levels.
<input type="checkbox"/> Records and documentation required by law are properly maintained.
<input type="checkbox"/> Records of all formal product safety program activities are maintained at least for the expected life of a product.
