A Comparison between Laughing and Sentimental Comedy (1773)

When the innkeeper presents a bill for the wine, Falstaff tells Bardolfo and Pistola that he needs more money, and plans to obtain it by seducing the wives of two rich men, one of whom is Ford. The morning was rather favourable, though it had rained all night, as the clouds were then dispersing across the sky, and the sun frequently appeared. You know the way to my heart, and can do what you like with me.

I am positively sure you must be hungry.

Shakespeare's Fools

A young, handsome fellow called Fenton is in love with Ford's daughter Nannetta, but Ford wants her to marry Dr.

Ben Jonson's chief plays

She needed no time for deliberation or inquiry. Somehow or other I never happened to be staying at Barton while he was at Allenham. Dashwood remained at Norland several months; not from any disinclination to move when the sight of every well known spot ceased to raise the violent emotion which it produced for a while; for when her spirits began to revive, and her mind became capable of some other exertion than that of heightening its affliction by melancholy remembrances, she was impatient to be gone, and indefatigable in her inquiries for a suitable dwelling in the neighbourhood of Norland; for to remove far from that beloved spot was impossible.

Shakespeare's Comedy The Merchant of Venice

The action of New Comedy is usually about plotting; a clever servant, for example, devises ingenious intrigues in order that his young master may win the girl of his choice.

Shakespeare's Fools

Some little present of furniture too may be acceptable then.
