At the Universalist General Convention in 1834, Hosea Ballou, 2d became the first president of the Universalist Historical Society. At a very early age there was a great revival of religion in the church of which my parents were members. Hearing of his growing eloquence, while in attendance at the Universalist Convention in Oxford in 1794, he was suddenly ordained by Elhanan Winchester.

I held a dear little infant in my bosom and wished it might remain forever in infancy, that it might not incur the awful hazard. In 1843 he was elected to the Board of Governors for Harvard University, where he would serve until 1858. I was told that I had once an amiable and excellent brother, who died at the age of fifteen—long before my memory; but virtuous as he was, on account of not being a member of the church, he was suffering the just judgment of a righteous God—which was to burn eternally in a lake of liquid fire! This allows us to preserve the book accurately and present it in the way the author intended.
