Major Wars and Conflicts of the 20th Century

The remaining four were executed on the 11th of November 1887.

Reassembling the Economic: New Departures in Historical Materialism

This is partly a matter of my own professional expertise, but also a reflection of where much of the new work has concentrated. The seminal article on path dependency is Paul A. Hoffman sees an early capitalism at work, though he, like many economists, does not criticize this as do historians.

The Future of Global Conflict

A good many Third World countries are small, and dependent for their living on one or two basic raw materials with low supply-and-demand elasticities, or under constant threat of synthetic substitutes.

World

Business offered the minority and oppressed a measure of agency, even against the most repressive of forces, such as slavery. Friedman, Birth of a Salesman: The Transformation of Selling in America Cambridge, Mass.

Conflict is reshaping the world. Here's how we tackle it

Such tensions can carry over from year to year, and are not necessarily reciprocal. The chances of success in reaching such a consensus, in turn, depend on the prior clarification of the issues at stake.

The Future of Global Conflict

They proposed that change was gradual, not sudden, a slow accumulation of improvements in technology and markets. Please help to improve this page yourself if you can. The poor nations clearly wish to assert their legitimate aspirations for a global redistribution of wealth and power on a fairer and more equitable basis.
