These Fascinating Villages in Iran Will Have You Packing Your Bags in No Time

INTRODUCTION : Tehran was a small village with population of 1000 persons in Safavid period 1554 which started growing gradually and was selected at the beginning of the Qajar period 1797 with population of 15000 persons as capital of Iran and has played role as capital of three regimes up to now Asgharpour et al, 2013. A recent study of Eastern Desert Ware, which included chemical analysis of the ceramic matrix and the organic residues in the vessels, as well as ethnography and experimental archaeology, indicated that Eastern Desert Ware was probably made and used by a group of pastoral nomads, but did not provide any evidence towards their identification or association with any specific group mentioned in the textual sources. The second mountain range, Zagros, stretches from northwest to the south and diverts to the east just north of the Persian Gulf.
