Moreover, in accordance with Article 9 of the Internal Rules, the designation of a Collaborating Centre shall be withdrawn if the Collaborating Centre fails to comply with the provisions of the ToRs and the present Rules. The Act also enhances the powers of the Attorney General, law enforcement officials, and the courts regarding wire, oral, and electronic communications. The new law also authorizes the Director to consolidate program activities to improve efficiencies and outcomes.

James A. Baker Institute for Animal Health Annual Report 1986

November 16, 1973—The Emergency Medical Services System Act of 1973 amended the PHS act to provide assistance and encouragement for the development of comprehensive area emergency medical services systems, including grants and contracts for the support of research in emergency medical techniques, methods, devices, and delivery. Deadlines must be strictly observed to allow a full evaluation of the dossiers by the members of the Commission prior to the meeting. This legislation also included the Newborn and Infant Screening and Intervention Act which directed the National Institute on Deafness and Other Communication Disorders NIDCD to carry out a program of research on the efficacy of new screening techniques and technology, including clinical trials of screening methods, studies on the efficacy of intervention, and related basic and applied research on hearing loss in newborns.

By sharing information on, for example, the best feeds and animal health services, the farmers have been able to improve their herd health and increase milk production. The law authorized the establishment of specified administrative divisions and, for the first time, designated a bureau of the Federal Government as an agency in which public health matters could be coordinated. October 22, 1965—The Medical Library Assistance Act was passed, authorizing NLM's extramural programs.
