Daggers, Swords and Bayonets of the Third Reich by Frederick John Stephens

Dagger hilt has twisted brass wire wound around the grip made of ceramic or ivory. Besides the standard dagger, special presentation models were given in 1934 by Ernst Röhm, leader of the Sturmabteilung SA — brown shirts to members of the SS old guard.

Blades of the Black Guard

The model 1933 SS dagger could be wrapped with a silver portepee and hung from a black leather and silver strap. Dagger cross guard has an anchor etched on its center.

German Daggers & Knives

Dagger pommel is a gold-coated eagle with wings folded, with a swastika sign at its claws. The tip is tapered, with a thick band of fuller at the centerline.

Blades of the Black Guard

The government under Adolf Hitler believed in the superiority of the German race. The leather tip of the scabbard is frayed.

Daggers, Swords and Bayonets of the Third Reich by Frederick John Stephens

A well illustrated and well written book.

Johnson Reference Books

It covers the historical background to the development of edged weapons in Germany, and then concentrates on the period following Hitler's rise to power and the revival of the traditional industries producing such weapons. Employing the presentation, cataloguing information, descriptions and detailed illustration of the previous books, it will be a valuable addition to the series.

The pommel cap was in a stepped form while the grip was wrapped in silver wire. Sword collectors are also opening up trade centers and auction sites online with these short swords nowadays, creating a lucrative market for these war memorabilia in spite of its short history. The 2 additional folding tools illustrated fold securely into the steel handle.
