A Randomized controlled trial of intramuscular pentazocine compared to intravenous paracetamol for pain relief in labor at Aminu Kano Teaching Hospital, Kano Muhammad Z, Abdulrahman A, Tukur J, Shuaibu SA

It undergoes transformation primarily by hydrolysis to pethidinic acid, followed by partial conjugation with glucuronic acid.

Pain relief in labour

Parametric data were summarized as mean \pm SD. Careful calculation of equianalgesic doses is required when changing opioids or switching from immediate release to modified release formulations, together with consideration of pharmacological differences between opioids. Due to the apparent differences between drug-related and TENS related interventions, blindness was not possible at the level of the current study.
