10 Queer Theory and Sexualities

This work, funded by the US National Endowment for the Humanities, led to his theorisation of the racialisation of sexuality under the Third Reich, given that the framers of apartheid in South Africa visited Nazi Germany, in the years prior to the outbreak of the Second World War, to study Nazi eugenics and fascist hierarchies of race, which engendered, in both regimes, the policing of sexuality through the regulation of gender norms and racial policies. Gerhard Baumgartner, William Spurlin, and Beth Griech-Pollel will fill this panel and each will give an individual presentation on a separate date.

How do we push back against antisemitism and other forms of hate and intolerance when the broader society is ignorant? Her work examines the society in the camps, Jewish social and political elites, issues of nationalism and ethnicity, gender and sexuality, and the Jewish Councils. This is the perfect text for researchers wishing to understand all the major themes of the issue while maintaining the personal and the intimate. The Pink Triangle: The Nazi War Against Homosexuals.

Auschwitz: Not long ago. Not far away.

Spurlin's book offers a complex and sophisticated analysis of the historical records of homosexuality and lesbian experience under German fascism. As the first testimony of the persecution of homosexuals in Nazi Germany ever published and one of the best known, The Men with the Pink Triangle is an indispensable text for any researcher to fully grasp not only the torture these prisoners faced during their imprisonment, but also their struggle after liberation.

The Men with the Pink Triangle. Spurlin's book offers a complex and sophisticated analysis of the historical records of homosexuality and lesbian experience under German fascism.

Lost Intimacies

Her research and areas of interest include 19 th and 20 th century East European Jewry, interwar Polish Jewry, the shtetl, antisemitism, and the Holocaust. Presented by the Midwest Center for Holocaust Education and Union Station Kansas City in support of the exhibition Auschwitz: Not long ago. Spurlin questions the wisdom of received scholarship that reduces Nazi fascism to latent homosexuality, and examines the possible implications of Nazi homophobia, and its imbrication with other deployments of power, for the study of contemporary culture where the homophobic impulse continues to reverberate, thereby challenging understandings of history steeped in notions of progressive modernity.

The Persecution of Homosexuals under the Nazi Regime

In their work covering the broad implications of racial issues in Nazi Germany, Burleigh and Wipperman dedicate a chapter to the persecution of homosexuals through a combination of multiple primary sources and their own analysis. He served as a consultant for the documentary film version of Who Will Write Our History. The Ringelblum archive in the Warsaw Ghetto buried thousands of documents.
