How People's Prejudices Develop

Age: Although prejudice and discrimination based on age is not applicable in school settings, it can affect children and young people in settings such as the workplace, in further and higher education, and in wider society.

Respect Me

I have a long relationship with Indonesia, but I have stopped feeling shame for that country. This is followed by curiosity about skin color, hair color and texture, eye shape and color, and other physical attributes.

Securing disunion: Young people's nationalism, identities and (in)securities in the campaign for an independent Scotland

And we have seen that social categorization can have a variety of negative consequences for the people who are the targets of our stereotypes.

Stereotypes, Prejudice, and Discrimination

When interacting with the target of our prejudice, we tend to pay attention to information that is consistent with our stereotypic expectations and ignore information that is inconsistent with our expectations. Trends in Cognitive Sciences, 11 2 , 77-83. During preschool years, children begin to notice physical aspects of identity.
