Lord, from Thy wrath my soule appeales, and flyes To gracious beames of those indulgent eyes, Which brought me first from nothing, and sustaine My life, lest it to nothing turne againe, Which in Thy Sonne's blood washt my parents' sinne, And taught me waies eternal! As a reproduction of a historical artifact, this work may contain missing or blurred pages, poor pictures, errant marks, etc. Bat God inuites them in His boundlesse love, And lifts their heauy minds to things aboue.

POEMS by Sir John Beaumont, Bart., [1582

These things are now most cleare, thee I imbrace : Immortall wreath, let worldlings count thee base, Choyce is thy matter, glorious is thy shape, Fit crowne for them who tempting dangers scape.

Beaumont baronets

Behold my house, where true contentment growes : Not like the baites, which this seducer giues, Whose blisse a day, whose torment euer Hues.
